A photograph of the entrance gate to Centenary College of Louisiana. The gate is a white stone wall with two pillars on either side, each topped with a decorative urn. The wall has a large central panel with the college's name and founding year. In the background, there are trees and a flagpole with an American flag.

Once there was a king who felt exceedingly unhappy because he thought there were no really good people left in his kingdom. So, he said to a famous artist, "Paint me a picture of a really good person." The artist did so and the king was delighted. He stood back to admire the portrait and suddenly realized that all the features were familiar. He recognized the brow of his priest, the happy eyes of his minstrel, the lips of his small daughter, the lovely smile of his beloved wife, and so on.

The moral of the story being, of course, that there is no completely good person-but all the people around us have qualities to be admired.

The Setting: Home

The years are 1993-94. Beds line the wall and pictures of friends and family occupy quaint frames on the ledges above. Clothes are strewn across the floor as if someone were in a mad dash.

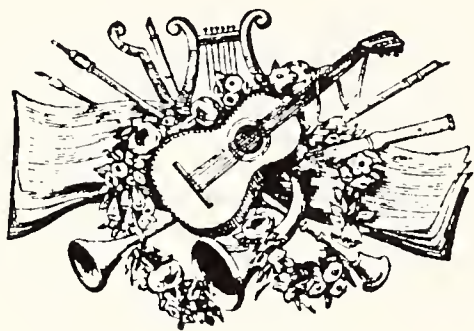

Thus, the typical setting of dorm life. Credit cards were used at Wal-Mart and quarters claimed a jar for the laundry. Ironing was a thing of the past. The goal was to find something clean while running out the door to make it to class on time. Coupons were discovered as something of value and stretching a dollar became an art.

There were five dorms, but James Dorm was often the center of student activity. The lobby was a popular site for late night cramming. The end of the day was often at the beginning which made the dorm an active place to live.

1994 was an active and exciting year for Centenary's fine arts programs. Meadows Museum had a busy year with four exhibitions: "Contemporary Art," "Small Treasurers and Great Pleasures," "Art in the American South," and "The Indochina Collection." Turner Art Center had seven showings throughout the year that included art of Centenary students. The Hurley School of Music was busy as usual with concerts including student performances as well as off-campus visitors for a wide variety of learning experiences for Centenary music majors. Finally, the fine arts program included five plays this year shown by Marjorie Lyons Playhouse: Camino Real, Lips Together, Teeth Apart, Talk Radio, Dancing At Lughnasa, and The Secret Garden. All of these opportunities brought to Centenary students a greater appreciation of the fine arts.

Stepping Into The Light

Centenary College is well known for its high academic standards, and the students are very familiar with long hours of studying. The beautiful campus provided ample yet adequate resources, from the library to the iron tables that scatter the landscape. Because of the diverse population contained at Centenary, it was no surprise to find students involved in every facet of the college, including those aspects which pertained to study habits. Students step into the light of knowledge by following their own courses of studying. Some students enhanced their knowledge through trial and error, some spent countless hours hibernating in the library, while others felt that their greatest educational moments were incurred while on a study break. Education was the top priority, and Centenary provided everything but the minds.

The 1993-94 Homecoming Day began with the annual Doo-Dah Parade. The Greek fraternities and sororities played an integral part in the parade. The winner for the float contest for the second year in a row was the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. Their float was led by King Gent and populated by a number of cows saying "Moo-ve over Stetson." With the addition of male Homecoming court members and increasing school spirit the parade proved to be the longest one in years. The parade left Centenary and led the crowd of students and alumni across Kings Highway and to the Gold Dome for a pre-game tailgate party. The cafeteria provided plenty of fried chicken and extras for the starving fans. After lunch the excited fans prepared for a suspenseful Homecoming game not to be forgotten for many years to come. The Centenary Gents beat Stetson with a final score of 90-73. What a better way to end the perfect Homecoming day than with a perfect Homecoming dance? The Homecoming dance proved to be a great success. Co-sponsored by the SAB and the SGA the dance was held downtown at the Petroleum Club. Music was provided by the popular disc jockey Hot Traxx. Homecoming 93-94 was one to be remembered.

Is There Life Outside Of Campus???

Though Centenary had a small campus, there was always much going on. However, students did leave the boundaries of Centenary Boulevard and Woodlawn to go into the city. Runs were made to Walmart, people went out to eat, and there were always people going out at night.

Leah Decelle said, "There's lots of places to go out to in Shreveport but I like going to Mia's because all my friends go there. No matter what time of day there's always Centenary students at Mia's and it makes it a lot of fun!"

Cara Phillips said, "I like to make quick runs to Walmart because I like to spend my money on nothing."

Of the 798 undergraduates students enrolled at Centenary, 299 lived off campus.

Jenny Dumas said, "I like living at home because I get home-cooked meals and someone does my clothes for me. I don't like being at home because it's an inconvenience to drive back and forth every day."

Students Develop A Unique Language When Discussing Dinner Time

Centenary students could not go into the Caf without hearing the word “scarf.” Where did that come from? It couldn’t be explained. Webster claims it to mean “broad band of cloth worn about the shoulders.” Somehow, Centenary students got this definition confused, and transformed this word “scarf” to mean eat. There were other words that Centenary students used when they wanted something to eat: grub, consumage, eats were among those that were most commonly used. But “scarf” was that one word of the year that stuck out most when students discussed food.

Pauline Richardson loves it when someone forgets the scanning I.D. card and she has to type in their social security number. NOT!

La Vida Nocturna

Amidst the shadows where untold mysteries lurked, silhouettes moved about the darkness and the students came out from hiding. They roamed the campus stressed from exams and last minute term papers. After a week of non-stop slavery, Centenary Students found refuge in popular spots such as Mama Mia's, Denim and Diamonds, and the Centenary Oyster House. The low budget of the average college student made it necessary to go out at minimal cost. A release from the bondage of responsibility was a brief welcomed vacation from school.

Cissy Fryer and Ellen Kent seem to be having a good time.

Winter Scenes

"In the winter time when all the leaves are brown and the wind blows, and the birds have all flown for the summer ..."

Although Steve Miller seemed to share with everyone his experience of the season of winter, he never mentioned the accompanying ice storms in his pleasant recollections. A black-out seeped its way across the city while unsuspecting citizens sat listening to the sounds of gun shots ringing through their neighborhoods. They soon realized that these were not man made sounds, but the sounds of branches cracking under the weight of ice. For some, winter's musical setting ended in tragedy as their cars were smashed by oncoming branches. Never before had this event made a magnanimous debut of this proportion in the history of our college memories. Businesses and schools were closed due to the weather and electrical complications, but Centenary, due to its duty of academics, remained open. Students were challenged to make the best of the situation, and plunge into, yet, another day of performance.

The green signs of spring were a strange contrast against the bleak, icy skyline.

Tina Joyce and Susan Moore prepared to battle the cold as they bundled up in warm, sensible attire.

Branches fell from the weight of the ice, sometimes crushing car windows.

The trees, covered with ice, created a beautiful, but uncommon, winter scene.

Suzanna Finnegan takes a load off while a mysterious pair of legs transports her across the mushy campus.

Meagan Horn and Kathryn Boots seem to enjoy sloshing about the campus.

Students persevere and make their way to the library, even though the weather is miserable.

Have I Got A Plan For You!

What do you call a plan that allows you to complete thirty hours of community service, plan your future career, and have an intercultural experience? The Centenary Plan, of course!

At registration students registered for Service Learning, Career Explorations, and Intercultural Experience.

Service Learning was completed through the Unity Program, run by Mrs. Dian Tooke. A student had to complete thirty hours of community service in one semester. Eager students could choose from a variety of activities from working at the Philadelphia Center of tutoring a child through the CLEAR program. This component was designed to give students a chance to give to the community and get something in return.

Career Explorations was run by Dr. Welborn, the Centenary career counselor. Students met with Dr. Welborn for a total of eight hours over a period of two weeks and completed activities from learning how to write resumes to how to apply to graduate programs.

The Intercultural Experience component of the Centenary Plan gave students an incredible opportunity to spend time in another culture. Many students fulfilled this requirement in France, Germany, and other countries. Sophomore student Monal Shah spent his Christmas vacation in India and completed this requirement while visiting family and friends there.

Although the Centenary Plan has been a source of controversy among students because they did not receive any academic credit for the work they completed, it gave students opportunities they would not have found at other colleges and universities.

Dr. Welborn organized many career fairs for students to have opportunities to learn more about careers they might have been interested in.

Holly Rice braves the rapids on her Intercultural Experience.

Jolie Veilleux tutors her Unity student Charis Diggs for her Service Learning component of the Centenary Plan.

Choir students visited this nunnery in St. Petersburg, Russia. They fulfilled their Intercultural Experience requirement while entertaining people from around the world.

Recognizing The Best

Centenary students are talented in many areas, and Honors Convocation provides an opportunity to recognize some of those students who have achieved excellence in certain areas. A variety of awards were given out for achievements in academics, leadership, sports, and other things. Seniors, especially, who excelled in their majors were honored for their hard work. This year's convocation proved to be a special occasion for parents, students, and faculty, as well as for the recipients of awards. The convocation was very well attended, and many excited students received credit that was well-deserved for their efforts. The 1994 Honors Convocation proved to be a great success.

Convocation

Elaine Thompson was awarded with the Centenary Choir Director's Award, Who' Who, The Leroy Vogel Memorial Award, and Outstanding American History Student in addition to Alpha Chi recognition.

Emily Lowe received the White Scholarship, a Hurley School of Music Award, for the second consecutive year. Way to go Emily!

Plato's The Allegory of the Cave compared the road from ignorance to knowledge to coming out of a dark cave and into the light of the world above. The faculty of Centenary College were on a quest to guide students from the dark cave and into the light of the world around them in 1993-1994. The student/faculty ratio of twelve to one provided the right environment for personal relationships between students and faculty. Centenary students enjoyed the luxury of knowing the professors and administrators on a personal level as well as a professional one.

COMING

Seniors

When you're a graduating Senior, the memories and experiences of your four (heh-heh) years of Centenary begin to coalesce in a single collective chunk of your mind. Few experiences in your life makes as much of an impact on the rest of your life as the college you graduate from. No matter where you go after Centenary, no matter your background, you are bound by a common thread that stretches back through the generations. When you graduate from Centenary, you are charged with an energy and spirit that comes from knowing that you've gone the distance, and you get to go into the real world and PAY YOUR STUDENT LOANS!

Juniors

By the time you're a Junior, you've finally crossed over into the Land of Upperclassdom and the finish line of graduation is in sight. The time has come to really begin worrying about your GPA and your life after college. You start looking into graduate school and learning how to exaggerate on a resume. 'The Real World' is no longer just another show on MTV, it is now a tangible reality almost close enough to reach out and touch.

Sophomores

The Sophomore year is not a year usually remembered as being your most eventful year in college, though it is of course no less important. The fun and novelty of being a freshman are over, the drive and excitement of being an upperclassman has not quite set in yet. You've taken care of Cultural Perspectives and some of your core requirements, so at last you have a chance to focus on your major and begin planning a course for the rest of your

Freshmen

As the hot August sun beat down on our sleepy little campus, freshman class of 1994 finally arrived at Centenary, after a fun-filled but anxious summer of waiting for the year to begin. After months of worrying about scholarships and schedules, the time had finally come for the best of the best to show their stuff. They arrived filled with excitement and anticipation of meeting new friends, experiencing a new degree of personal freedom, and taking those first few steps down the lifelong road of learning. This lasted for about the first fifteen minutes or so, then it was time to party.

GENTS BASKETB

Amongst its diverse attributes, Centenary offered a wide variety of entertainment; especially in the field of sports, such as soccer, volleyball, baseball, tennis, riflery, cross country, and basketball. These sports were events where every student on and off campus came together. The spirit of comper-ition brought an air of excitement to the atmosphere. Every individual played their part in supporting the teams in both victory and defeat. Time has passed and Centenary has stolen the show. Her spotlight of victory has shone brighter every year.

PLAYING

PART

Gents Basketball 1993-94

The Gents Basketball team started the year off on the right foot with the help of their coaches. Tommy Vardeman continued to head the coaching for his ninth season. He was assisted by Willie Jackson, Steve Roccaforte, Paul Rassmusen, and Student Assistant John Edwards.

The Gents competed in not only the Trans America Conference Games, but also in the Lobo Classic against North Texas and New Mexico, and in the TAAC Tournament against Florida International and Central Florida. The Gents leading player this year was Nate Taylor being the highest scorer in 9 of the games and the highest rebounder in 19 of the games.

The most exciting game of the year for the students and the team was Homecoming against Stetson. The game was full of tension with the scores flipping between Stetson and Centenary for the most points. But, Centenary finally pulled through in the end with a 19 point lead.

The team added three new players this season, Forward-Todd Martinez, Guard-Kawambe Maye, and Forward-Paxton Ross. However, the team will loose three key players after this season. These seniors are Guard-Derrick Jacobs, Post-Allan Jaster, and Forward-Nate Taylor.

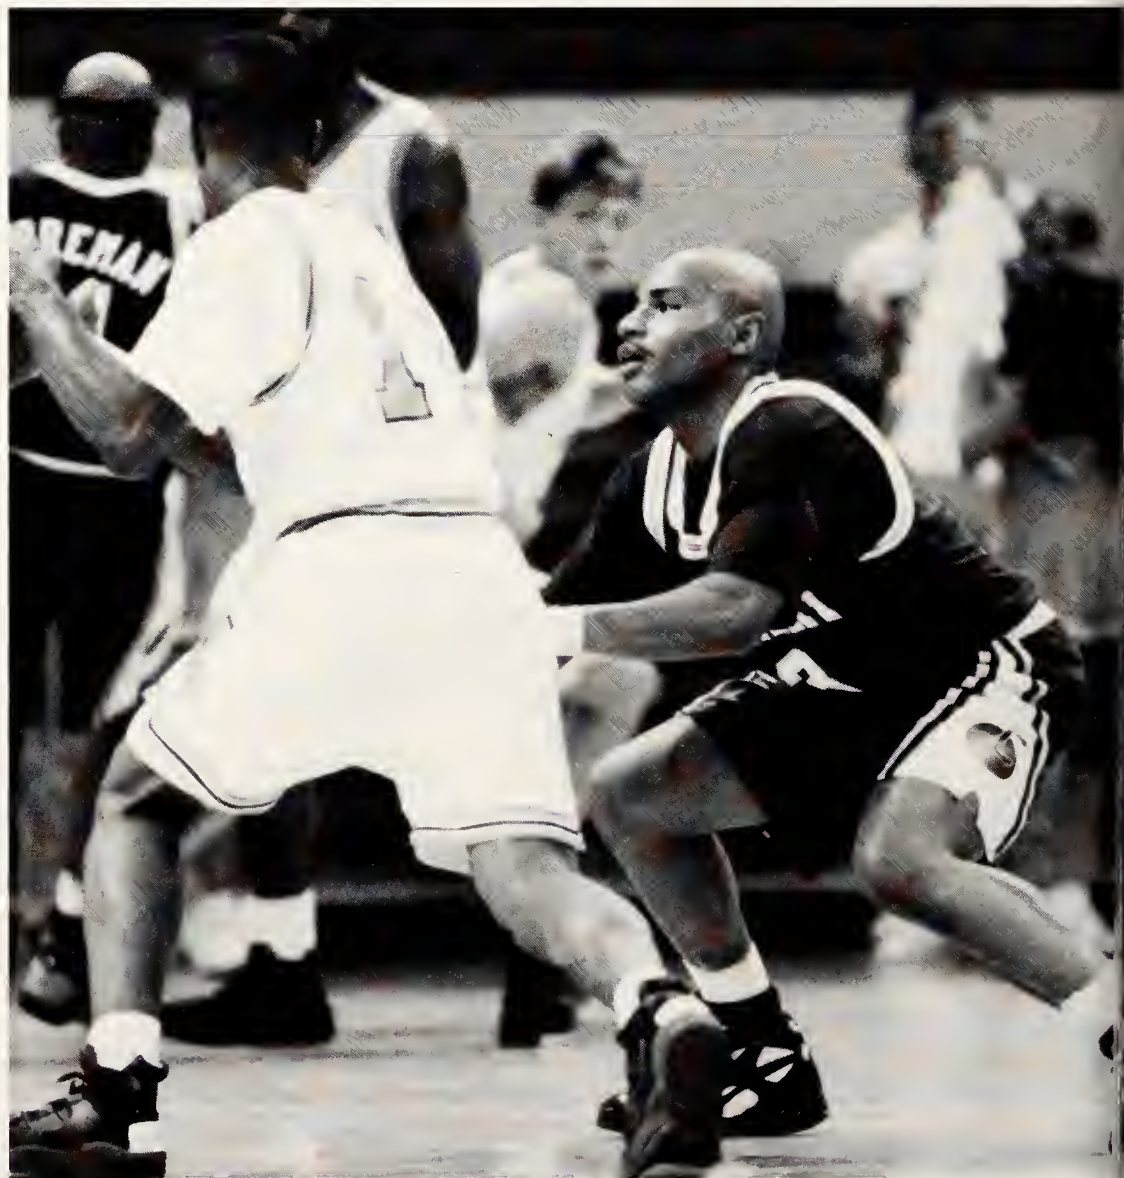

The Gents ended the season with a 16-12 record.

Gents Soccer 1993

The twenty-seven member Gents soccer team had a busy year in 1993 filled with many challenges. They met these challenges with a head on attack by both enthusiastic freshmen, seasoned upperclassmen, Assistant Coach Gareth O'Sullivan, and Head Coach Glenn Evans. Although there were many key injuries, the talent of every player shone though. This year was a growing experience in which the team improved from the record they had last year. A memorable part of the season was the shaving of hair. "At first just a couple did to be different, but soon the entire team had bald heads. This really boosted our spirits and the next day we beat the number seven ranked team in the nation, Florida International," said Keegan McConnell. Also, another help in moral were the freshmen, who gave new ideas and bodies to the team line up.

One rule the team had to abide by was: "Thou shalt not go out". Jeff Ramsey felt that "It made people stay in focus during the season." "You need to have commitment, but it would be nice to break free once in a while," states Danny Warren.

The Gents competed in the St. Edwards Invitational in Austin, Tx and the Port City Invitational in Mobile, AL, as well as the TAAC Championship. Their season concluded with an overall 7-13 record.

Second Time Around

Ladies Soccer 1993

The Lady Gents really proved themselves this year. In their second season the ladies encountered a rigorous NCAA Division I schedule while vying for the TAAC Women's soccer championship. The twenty-one member team did remarkably well this year for having 10 returning sophomores and 11 newcomers. "I was excited about the new players. They added a lot to the team. This is only our second year, and I expect nothing but improvement in the years to come," said Shelley Marusak.

Their practices have been very tough. Brandy Rentz states, "We worked hard at the beginning of the season. In the mornings we ran an hour and a half on Hardin field. In the afternoon we practiced one and a half to two hours with the ball. We even had a nickname for our assistant coach, Gareth O'Sullivan, "the slave driver", because he's the one who made us train so much. Like the men's team, the girls also could not go out. "Now that I look back on it, it wasn't that bad. We had a great time going to movies and bowling together," said Lisa Robertson.

This year the ladies not only competed in the TAAC Championship, but also the St. Edwards Invitational in Austin, TX. Their road trips led them as far as Macon, GA and Charleston, SC. The season ran from September 4 to November 5 ending with an overall record of 11-7-1.

On The Mound

Gents Baseball 1994

The beginning of the Gent's baseball season looked bleak for them because of the number of starters, letterwinners, and head coaches they lost last year. However, an energetic first year head coach, a proven nucleus of veterans, and a fresh group of newcomers was just what the doctor ordered!

Coach Wayne Rathbun returned to his alma mater to coach this team to success. "There's no question that this is an entirely different Centenary team from last year, but that does not mean we cannot be as, if not, more successful than we were in 1993," states Rathbun.

This year there were eight pitching for the Gents among which were four newcomers, Mike McConnell, Trey Culverhouse, Shawn Mahoney and Ryan Lawrence. Between all these pitchers, there were 225 strike outs this season with Hadley leading at 53.

The defense was solid this year in the infield with three returning starters, Brian Stier (Co-Captain), Darren Rounsaville, and Gabe DeLaCruz (Co-Captain), which was the exact opposite of the outfield. Here is where the Gents were hit the hardest losing all three starters. However, the comeback was made with three returning players and a freshman Jeff Hogan.

The Gents travelled across the South including Arkansas, Mercer, Georgia, Samford, and Southeastern Louisiana. They concluded their season with a 18-23 record.

Ladies Softball 1993-94

The Ladies Softball team was very enthusiastic about this year after the roller coaster ride last year. Laneigh Clark pulled a great team of seventeen girls together for her fourth season at Centenary. She was assisted by Michaela Meredith who entered her third year of coaching the Ladies Softball team.

The pitching was strong this year with Senior Donna Krolczyk pitching twenty-seven games. The heart of the defense this year was Kristy Risner playing Shortstop. Three freshmen infielders made a big impact on the team.

Angell Floyd was starting second baseman; Cara Couvillion provided stability at third base; and Robin Rackley gave leadership as catcher behind the plate. The outfield included Junior Lori May, Sophomore Kelly Griffin-Humphreys, Freshman Kristi Huff, and Tara Hammack. Also added to the outfield were the Sophomores Debra Pratt and Shelley Marusak who under went a transition from soccer in the fall to softball in the spring. Three other newcomers were added to the team-Lacy Crouch, Kristi Huff, and Tara Hammack.

The Ladies NCAA Division I schedule was tough, but they faced it head on with enthusiasm. They also competed in the Northwestern State University Warmup, as well as, the Northeast LA Mardi Gras Classic. The two other competitions the Ladies competed in were the Aggie Invitational at College Station, TX and at the Frost Cutlery Invitational at Chattanooga, TN where they faced some of the top teams in the nation. The Ladies finished the season with 20-33 record.

Gents Tennis 1993-94

Heading into Centenary's fortieth season of men's tennis was Coach Jimmy Harrison who has been coaching the team for fifteen years now and continues to help his daughter, Pattie Adams with the Ladies Tennis. Harrison was very optimistic at the beginning of this year saying, "We have got a very young experienced team coming back and a promising newcomer (Eddie Wicker) that could make the difference." Harrison's statement was proven.

Returning to the top singles spot was Junior Ashwin Damodaran whose record was 4-16. The brothers Davor and Denis Poljak from Bosnia and Hercegovina followed close behind with a 2-17 and 8-10 record, respectively.

The doubles action added a new dimension this year with a new format of all three doubles matches consisting of an 8-game pro set played at the start of each match. The team winning the best two of three won the doubles points. The doubles pair that did quite well this season was Ashwin Damodaran and Denis Poljak with a record of 8-8. Davor Ivancic and Davor Poljak were not too far behind finishing with a 4-7 record.

Overall the Gent's record was 5-15. They placed fourth in the TAAC Western Division and seventh in the overall TAAC Championship.

Denis Poljak gives the most possibly can give to his serve.

Ladies Tennis 1993-94

The Ladies Tennis team had an exciting year having an overall record of 13-9 and winning first place in the TAAC Western Division, and they couldn't have done it without their Head Coach Pattie Adams, who has coached the past seven years. The Ladies brought in their sixteenth season with five letterwinners off of last year's squad, two freshmen (Katrina Ernesto and Jill Womick), and transfer Trisha Holloway from the University of North Texas.

Junior Sally Calogne moved right into the number one spot in the singles line up with Senior Heather Farish and Trisha Holloway close behind. However, in doubles Heidi Zimmerman and Trisha Holloway were a match made in heaven, with Calogne and Bolton on the trail.

The team participated in the TAAC Western Division Championships in Hammond, Louisiana March 31-April 2 leaving with the number one spot. They also competed in the TAAC Championship in Charleston, South Carolina April 22-24 giving them a 5-2 record and fifth place overall.

Heather Farish watches to if her hit is returned.

Ladies Volleyball 1993

The Centenary Ladies Volleyball team had a rough year in 1993 with only one win. However, the team must be commended. The team was made up of mostly underclassmen who came in with enthusiasm and determination. The most disappointing part of the whole year was losing the two seniors, Christie Hulse and Donna Krolczyk, that have contributed so much to the team over the past four years. Hulse led the team in blocks with .8 per game, which ranked her eighth in the TAAC. Krolczyk, an outside hitter, led the team with 2.47 kills per game and was ranked tenth in the TAAC in kills per game. A new freshman came in this year as a setter, Robin Rackley. She was very successful in quarterbacking the team and providing leadership. Rackley was tied for sixteenth in the nation with 12 assists per game.

The coaches have provided much support and guidance during the year. The head coach this year was Laneigh Clark who was assisted by Jeff Rodi whose time and effort was greatly appreciated. Rodi was there for the girls everyday of practice without pay, but with devotion.

The team survived the year because of the family atmosphere that stemmed from all the hours of practice even before school started. They came to school two weeks early to practice for the upcoming season. However, practices were delayed until late evening due to the filming of St. Tammany's Miracle. They practiced for two and a half to three hours a day, six days a week.

The Ladies competed in the Trans America Athletic Conference Match during Fall Break in Atlanta, Georgia, as well as travelling to Southern Arkansas, NLU, and Grambling for out of town games. Their season concluded with a 1-24 record.

Ladies Gymnastics 1994

The Centenary Ladies Gymnastics Team had a strong year with the help of the husband-wife team, Bob and Willa Moss, returning to coach for their ninth season. The coaching duo was optimistic from the very beginning about their team. "This is by far the most talented group of ladies we have had since we have been here," said Bob.

This year there were six returning letterwinners with one new freshman,

Dawn Montague from Plano, Texas. There was one senior that they will be losing after this season, Katrina Evans, who has led the team to victory in the past years. But, the star of the show this year was Jolie Veilleux, a sophomore from Praireville, LA. She received the highest scores on the bars with a 9.725 and on the floor with a 9.675 at Texas Women's University and on the balance beam with a 9.75 and on the all around with a 38.15 at the USA Nationals. Leading on vault with a 9.45 at Oklahoma was Jennifer Hass. Three players were named All-American at the USA Nationals. Those named were Jolie Veilleux, Veronica Stuart, and Christin Horn.

The Ladies celebrated their thirtieth anniversary with a second place national title and won two out of seven matches.

The Leading Ladies

Danceline 1993-94

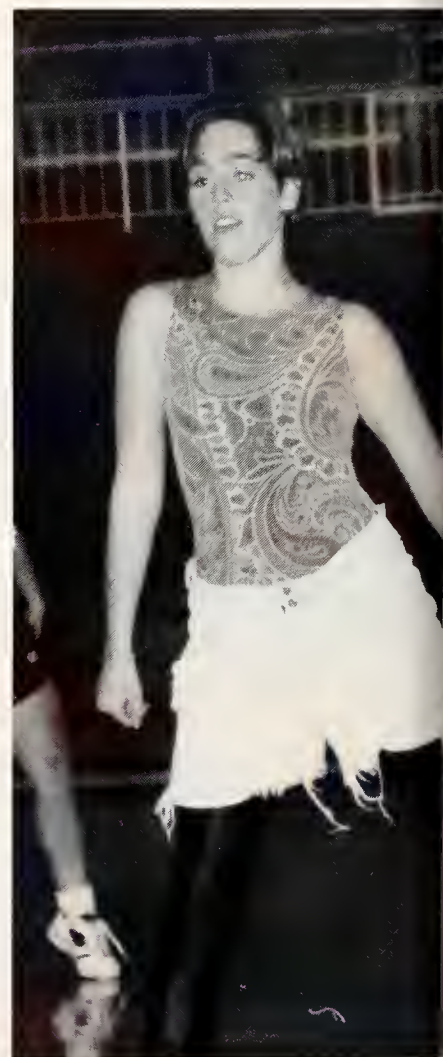

On October 31, 1993, the first ever Centenary College danceline was unveiled at the Halloween Hoopla Festivities. The Leading Ladies took to the basketball court for their first appearance, dawned in black unitards and carrying flashlights. They performed a routine in the dark using flashlights to produce just the eery Halloween routine everyone was hoping for!

Try outs were held to decide the danceline members. The requirements for try outs included performance of a dance taught to everyone and performance of an individual dance made up by each girl who auditioned. These performances were judged by people on campus. Since this year was the first time ever in the history of Centenary for there to be a danceline, the perfect name had to be found. A contest was held on campus to find just that name. After narrowing the choices to three, the girls on the line voted on the final name. The three from which they chose were "The Maroon Mirage," "The Ladies in Motion," and "The Leading Ladies." Jonathan Chamberlain won with his entry of "The Leading Ladies."

The co-captains for this year's danceline were Stephanie Cody and Michelle Robinson. The Freshman captain was Celeste Waller. Jill Purdue did an excellent job as the danceline's sponsor this year, as did their choreographer.

Practice, practice, practice Stephanie!

Just about anywhere one went on campus this year, any time of day, one could find a meeting or group activity in progress. Students often worked late into the evening discussing problems, working on projects, sharing ideas, and trying to meet deadlines.

TAKING

Centenary offered many opportunities to get involved, whether it was working to make changes in the community and on campus, or simply participating in an activity one enjoyed. Organizations were a great chance to meet other students with similar interests and to form close friendships throughout the year.

LEAD

Letter

My year as Editor of the Yoncopin was a tremendous learning experience. Working on the yearbook was very stressful (anyone that remotely knows me could figure that one out), and I couldn't have ever dreamed of producing a book without the help of a few very special individuals. First of all, I would like to thank David Baker. He was our Josten's yearbook representative, and he went out of his way to do whatever he could to help with the yearbook. I can't imagine what this year would have been like without him. Secondly, I should thank Cory Rogers, Sport Information Director at Centenary. Cory provided the staff with pictures, scores, and other useful information about almost every sport. He did this with a smile and never once acted like we were a bother. His cooperation was greatly appreciated. Mildred Grate helped with our finances. The Admissions Office also helped a great deal with computer listings of students and faculty. Above all, I would like to thank my wonderful family and friends for giving me the support I needed when I just wanted lot of stressful errands that no one else would ever think of accepting. Molly Henderson was also a great staff member. She came to almost all the meetings, and she was always willing to do whatever was needed. Jodi Johnston was great at designing layouts. She designed the greek section. She also took the majority of our pictures. She was one of the few that had any experience. Paula Mangham, last year's editor, was, of course, a strong member of the staff. She helped me with lots of questions I had about the book. Katie Pattullo did a fantastic job on her layouts. She was always asking what could be done next. (I never quite figured out if she was on the staff because she wanted to be or if she thought I would have killed her if she had quit.) Last, but certainly not least, was Mandy Rogers (my other suitemate). I think she was on the staff because she felt sorry for me, but she did an absolute superb job on every layout.

Finally, I would like to thank the students and professors who had faith in the Yoncopin staff no matter what had happened in the past. Thank you for realizing that the yearbook is a learning tool for those on the staff. Thanks for all the support.

From

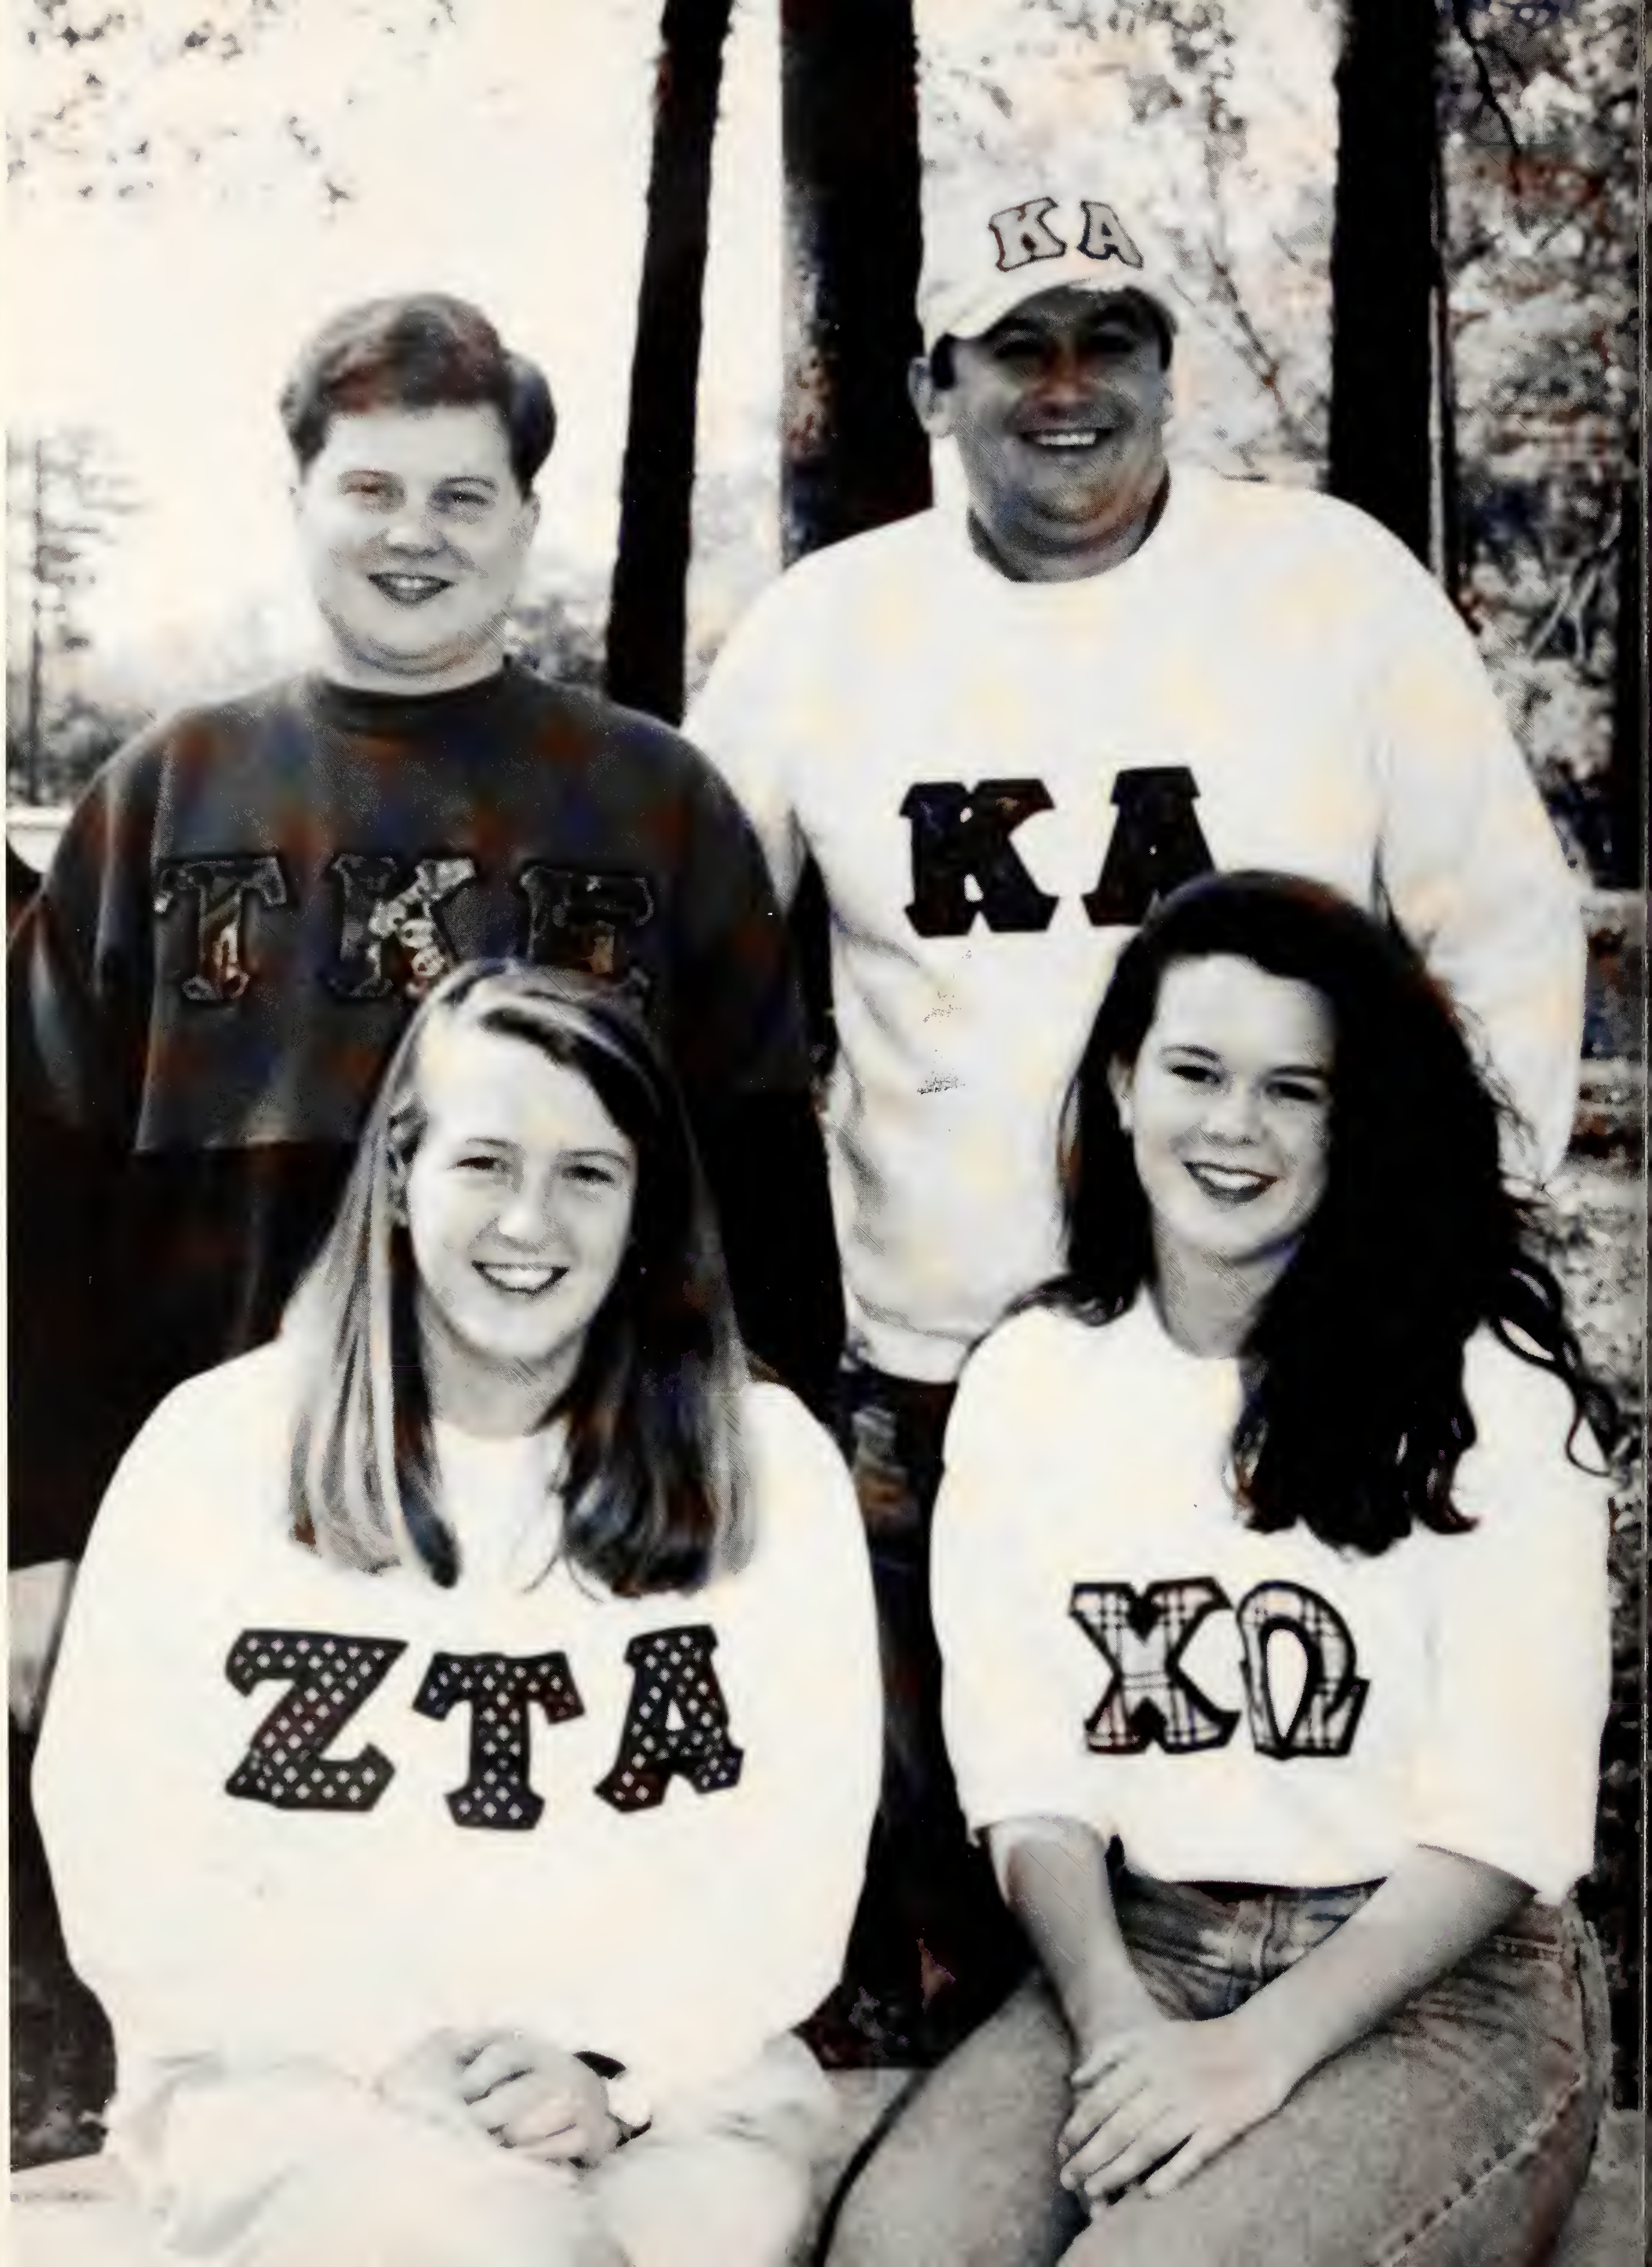

to quit (like so many other editors have done in the past). Without them I surely would not have had the strength to carry on.

I'd like to thank each and every member of the staff with my undying thanks. You were all so great. First of all, I would like to thank Melissa Wiegall for her work as co-editor first semester. Emma Seeley did a super job as business manager. She was so organized. Our books were kept in a very neat and orderly fashion. Tim Dayton was definitely a help. He provided us with volleyball and cross country pictures which were needed desperately. Jennifer Dent was a very hard worker. She did a large variety of layouts, and I must say she did well on all of them. Candi Endicott did a lot of copy writing as well as other things. She always did her work with a great attitude. Allyson Fowler (my suitemate) was kind of pulled in to being on the staff and as expected, she did a great job on all of her layouts. Kristin Hebert joined the staff a little later in the year, but she proved to be a great asset. She did a Balloons of turquoise, white, red, and yellow ... T-shirts, name tags, and cups ... the sound of Rawhide's theme song ringing through the air ... a herd running down the hill ... You say a souped up rodeo? No, its only girl's Bid Day! Chi Omega and Zeta Tau Alpha pledges stomped the annual path from Magale Library to their respective new houses on September 4, 1993. To make the event more festive, the Theta Chi's blasted music from their stereo. TKE's, KA's and Sig's lounged on couches which they placed on Hurley's lawn. The new pledges of both the ZTA's and Chi-O's were met with open arms, hugs, and the feeling of sisterhood. After plenty of pictures and lunch both sororities went on separate retreats for more bonding time, games, and getting to know each other better. Thus began a lifetime of friends and sisterhood.

Kappa Alpha Gentlemen and Ladies have loads of fun at the presentation of the Formal dates and the Rose-Theresa Carlson.

Formals

Centenary Greeks have always been known to show their pride by wearing t-shirts with Greek letters that indicate the organization they are affiliated with. For every function, whether it be a party, a formal, or a swap, fraternities and sororities offered a chance to order a t-shirt to help one remember that specific event. Included on the front pocket were the Greek letters of the organization hosting the party, the name of the party, and the date of the party. The back always had a unique design originated by a member of the fraternity or sorority drawn to emphasize the theme of that party. These t-shirts cost approximately $9.00 a piece, but they were always good quality t-shirts that would last through many vigorous wearings and washings.

Jenny Smith, Cara Phillips, and Meg Lowry show off those ZTA letters.

Charming Chi-O's, Jennifer Evere and Mandy Kinasewitz, sport the t-shirts while checking their mail.

Jeff Ward received a Kappa Sigma Bid Day shirt this year as a pledge.

Scenes Of A Campus

The beautiful campus of Centenary College makes it a pleasant place to call home. The seasons make the campus come alive in the middle of the growing city of Shreveport. A place of history and traditions, Centenary is a campus of memories. It is proud of its liberal arts heritage as well as its academic accomplishment over Centenary's one-hundred and sixty nine years of existence.
